

August 29, 2017

Re: Allocation of ExxonMobil™ Polypropylene resins

Dear ExxonMobil Polypropylene Customer:

Hurricane Harvey has temporarily impacted manufacturing operations and the broader logistics network in the Gulf Coast area. As a consequence we will begin allocating sales of specific ExxonMobil™ polypropylene resins produced at our Gulf Coast facilities.

Presently, we're assessing the full impact to our polypropylene supply capability across the region including railcar logistics. Allocation quantities, if applicable, will be communicated to you as soon as possible; however, it could take several days to assess completely.

We are committed to communicating in a timely manner as new information becomes available. We regret the impact that this supply disruption may have on your business.

Your ExxonMobil Plastics & Resin sales representative will provide you with more details as soon as they become available.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "David Marotta". The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "D" and a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

David Marotta